

WOLF COMMITS SUICIDE AGAIN

Enlarges His Field of Operation and Tries Shuffling Off in Lima, Ohio.

IS AN EPERT AT THE BUSINESS

Ohio Folks Do Not Take Kindly to His Stunt and Wolf is Severely Criticized.

Charley Wolf, a painter of this city, the "Champion Would-be Suicide," who has attempted to take his life in nearly every town in this part of Indiana, as well as in Piqua and Dayton, Ohio, has again enlarged his field of action and has been operating in Lima, Ohio, of late. The Lima Gazette tells about it as follows:

"Enough is enough. Too much is too much."

"Such is about the case of Charles Wolf of Piqua, who, yesterday afternoon, for the fourth time, attempted to end his life, twice in Piqua, and twice in Lima. Several weeks ago Wolf attempted suicide by taking a quantity of carbolic acid on West Wayne street, while several persons were passing him. The dose was not sufficient to take his life, however. Twice previous to that he had attempted suicide in a similar manner at Piqua.

"At 4:15 o'clock yesterday evening the Whitley ambulance made a hurry run to the Pelligrini saloon, 705 South Main street, where it was reported that a man had taken laudanum and was dying. When the ambulance men reached the scene they recognized Wolf, whom they had taken care of before. He was rushed to the hospital and Dr. Hiner and an assistant pumped the deadly stuff he had taken from his stomach. This time he made no resistance to the use of the pump as he did before. The bottle which he emptied of its contents was labeled 'carbolic acid,' but Wolf claims it was a mixture of carbolic acid, laudanum and whiskey which he secured at the South Side drug store, corner Kibby and Main streets. He went immediately to the Pelligrini saloon just south of Kibby street and standing before the bar drank the contents—then neatly collapsed to the floor.

"There isn't much doubt in the minds of local persons but that Wolf is a 'bluffer.' Persons who learned who he was in the crowd that gathered about the saloon said 'Give him some more.' 'Ought to have given him a bigger dose,' and other like expressions. It is quite evident that in making the 'grand stand' plays

Wolf does not intend to end his life, but merely wants a bed in which he can repose, as it is said he is not working at any place at the present time. He has been out of the city for some time since his last attempt to end his life, but bobbed up again Monday and has been here since that time. He seems to enjoy Lima to 'pull off his little bluff parties,' but this should be his last one. The authorities should take a hand in the matter and see that he does not abuse the rights of the hospital or other public institutions in forcing them to care for him.

He was put in the charity ward at the hospital, as he had no money whatever. He will probably not remain in the institution as long this time as he did the last, as the case is not half as serious. It is an imposition on the hospital, and the management should take it in hand to refuse him admittance in the future. It is likely that his removal to the infirmary will be ordered soon, but that depends upon his condition, as it may be such that he can be released.

"When confined in the hospital the last time Wolf was very abusive in his language to the nurses and made severe threats to one of the, it is said. When he left the institution the day before Christmas, it is said, Wolf remarked to one of the nurses that she might expect him back soon. And Tuesday, January 19th, marked his return.

"The world is full of 'bluffers' and it looks as if Wolf is really one of them."

RAKED THE MEADOW HAY

Lads and Lassies Had a Swell-Ellegant Time Last Night.

A large class of lads and lassies raked hay last night with the Maud Mullers at the Red's Men hall. The recent thaw of the snow made the hay fields ripe for the work. An elegant repast of buttermilk and ginger bread was served in the barn lot. Barn dancing was taboored.

MAN WANTS BUT LITTLE, ETC.

One or two Rush county farmers, who would kick if they were playing old fashioned foot ball, are complaining that the snow and the thaw following is making the roads almost "undrivable." Before the snow they complained that the wheat was suffering for a coat of the "beautiful."

EASTER FLOWERS.

One lady, with much "joy in her voice" phoned the Daily Republican today that she had small Easter flowers blooming in her yard. That's a sign of some-thing! What?

BASE BALL NOW TAKES A BOUND

Rushville is Named as One of the Teams in a Proposed Six Club League.

A GOOD LOOKING PROPOSITION

Manager Thomas Seery of the Indianapolis Atkins Team Behind
the Proposition.

Balmy days like these and the favorable outlook in the legislature for the passage of a Sunday base ball bill, causes the base ball germ and microbe to become active and many teams are being organized around the gas stoves and radiators.

For several reasons Rushville has not been in the limelight with a first class ball team, and had to be satisfied and contented to lay back and rest on her laurels of having furnished some of the best talent in the country for the big league teams. At this time, however, it is thought that Rushville is going to be in the running the coming season and in all probability a first class club will be organized before the local talent signs up with outside teams.

Thomas Seery, manager of the Atkins club in Indianapolis and the foremost managers of amateur ball in that city, has written parties and made a proposition for a six team league. The Atkins team has been the best club in Indianapolis for several seasons and many players from that club have found berths in league company through the efforts of Manager Seery.

The six club league, according to Seery, is to be made up of Rushville, Connersville, New Castle, Richmond, Cambridge City and the Atkins club. Connersville will not be in the K. I. O. league this season on account of the long jumps that the Ohio clubs were obliged to make in connecting with the Hoosiers on their home grounds. It is planned to play Sunday and holiday games. All the cities named are good base ball cities and within easy access of each other. It is by far, the best amateur league outlined for several seasons and if it does not die a bornin' ought to make good this season.

Local ball fans will try and interest the I. & C. traction company in assisting in locating suitable grounds near this city, if a local club is organized.

EXTENSION OF THE I. & C. TRACTION LINE

Liberty People Are Always Interested and Elated When They Hear That.

WORK TO BEGIN IN THE SPRING

When anyone says traction line to a citizen of this city and county, says the Liberty Express, they always look up and take notice. Recently one of our business men was in Indianapolis and overheard a conversation regarding the extension of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction line. He said that it was the intention of the company to try and get the line from Connersville to Hamilton completed before next fall. This will no doubt, sound good to the people of our city. Many say they have doubts about the extension, but it's bound to come sooner or later.

VISITORS WENT BACK VICTORS

In an Interesting Contest the Morristown High School Quintet Won From Locals.

BY THE SCORE OF 24 TO 15

Game Was Much Harder Fought
Than Score Indicates—Stellar
Work in Spots.

In a contest much closer than the score indicates, the Morristown high school basket ball team defeated the local high school quintet, by taking the long end of a 24 to 15 score.

The first half ended with Morristown a margin of one point in the lead, and it seemed that Capt. Williams' five had a chance. But this thought was soon removed when the second half began and the visitors struck their gait, which was entirely too fast for the R. H. S. boys.

The game was fast and furious throughout and some stellar work flashed out in spots, although it would be hard to choose a star. Morristown played fast ball, handled their passes well, were sure on baskets, and as a result won.

The two teams lined up as follows: Morristown: Patten and Guthrie, forwards; Sterling, center; Pierson and Bass, guards. Rushville: Williams and Gunning, forwards; Sparks, center; Mauzy and Buell, guards.

A curtain-raiser was played between the Freshmen and Sophomores of the high school, in which the Freshmen won, 4 to 0.

FRAZEE WILL GO IN ON NEXT SATURDAY

New Postmaster Received Commission Yesterday—President
Writes at Top of Voice.

SIGNS WITH THE BIG STICK

Charles A. Frazee received his commission last night which sets forth that he is to be the next postmaster in Rushville. He will take charge of the local office next Saturday. The commission is signed by President Roosevelt, who is an "awful scribe," and it looks as if it might have been signed with the big stick. Frazee entertained a few friends at dinner last night, ratifying the work of the President, the senate, and Congressman Watson.

Both the ingoing and outgoing postmasters are popular citizens. Ben L. McFarlan has conducted the affairs of the office with credit to himself and the city, and has been one of the most satisfactory men that ever held the place. Likewise it is a common expression that "Charley Frazee has more warm personal friends than any other man in the county."

OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

The Warfield & Wilson table factory that made an assignment yesterday employed from twenty to thirty-five men.

Physicians Took Picture of First Victim in Rushville

At Hargrove & Mullin's drug store they have a picture of the Brown boy taken while he was "full under way" with the smallpox and broken out all over. Surely, no one contemplates making post card souvenirs of that horrible nightmare. It would be a grim reminder, indeed. No one can look at the picture unless they are vaccinated.

FORMER RESIDENT OF THIS CITY DEAD

James Cauley Succumbed to Paralysis of the Heart Last Night
at Princeton.

THE BURIAL WILL OCCUR HERE

William Cauley of South Pearl street received word late yesterday evening that his son, James had died suddenly of paralysis of the heart at Princeton, Ind. Mr. Cauley was proprietor of a tailor shop in that city, and has many relatives and friends in this city.

The father of the deceased and two brothers, Lawrence and Anthony left this morning for Princeton and will bring the remains to this city for burial. Cauley is survived by his wife, his father, William Cauley, and four brothers, Lawrence, Anthony and William of this city, and Frank of Indianapolis, and three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Macy, and Marie Cauley of this city, and Mrs. Margaret Gantner of Denver, Col.

DON'T BE CROSS.

Clarence Cross, the Paper King, clerk at the postoffice and secretary of the local civil service commission, is the bouncing father of an eight pound baby girl since last evening. He will sell his dog now and practice on the lullaby, "Don't be Cross."

LOCAL HALL OF FAME.

In this department the Daily Republican endeavors to point out some of the eccentricities, idiosyncrasies, talents, habits, and peculiarities of local men, and it is intended to make correct impressions. There are many men with whom we come in contact daily for years that we do not know all of their traits and hobbies, and some little things that are interesting to know.

CARD SHARPERS WORK ON TRAIN

It is Said That a Rush County Farmer Was Separated From
a Large Roll.

BY THE "BIG MITT" PROCESS

Connersville Newspaper—As Usual
—Pictures the "Fall Guy" as a Rush County Farmer.

These are dull days! Something must be said if indeed something must be read. Harken then to a story from the Connersville Examiner. Of course the "fall guy" would necessarily have to be a Rush county farmer—that is as essential with a Fayette county audience as nailing the villain in the last act—otherwise the story would fall flat. The story follows:

"It is reported that 'big mitt' men have been working of late along the lines of the C. H. & D. There is a story afloat that a farmer living in Rush county was recently separated from a bank roll by these sharks. Efforts to ascertain the name of the alleged victim were without success.

"Only a couple of weeks ago a young fellow caught in the act of picking the pocket of a passenger was captured by the Hamilton police, and it now develops that he is a notorious Boston 'dip' whose countenance adorns the roques' gallery of that city."

THE BACH'S HAVE ON IN BATCH OF BILL

The Unmarried Men Will Determine
Whether or no the Women
Will Vote.

JUDGE HALL LEADS FORCES

Lieutenant Governor Hall, says today's Indianapolis Star, and all other bachelors of the Senate were given full power to act on a communication sent to the Senate by the Otter Creek Township Institute, which urges the Legislature to enact laws giving Indiana women the right to vote. After the resolution and the communication were read, a motion carried that Lieutenant Governor Hall and the other unmarried men be given full power to act on disposition of the instruments.

Local Hall of Fame

Owen L. Carr, formerly county auditor, is a staunch believer in ranch life and will try and bring his boys up in that business in Texas, which he firmly believes to be the land of opportunity. He has a knowledge of contract law that is second to none possessed by any attorney in the city.

John F. Joyce, the attorney, is a gifted writer of both prose and poetry. Of the latter he has enough of his own make, written in the past twenty years, to fill two or three neat volumes. He is well versed in classics.

Tony Schrichte, marble cutter and designer, is one of the best draughtsmen in Indiana. Two of the large monuments erected on the Chicamunga battle field were designed by him. He is fond of speaking and is in demand over Indiana in Knights of Columbus circles at the big initiations.

John Freeman, of the Windsor hotel, like President-elect Taft, is crazy about golf. He has a well regulated mania for gathering odds and ends for a beautiful den fitted up in his establishment. It is a cross between an English hunting lodge and an Oriental nook.

William Gordon, retired farmer, is a motor car fan now. He likes to carry a heavy cane and often sits through a whole sermon at the Methodist church with both hands on the top of the cane and his chin resting on his hands.

Skygack in Rushville

Strange Being from the Planet Mars Comes Here and Makes Observations of the Things He Sees and Does Not Understand. They Will be Read With Interest When He Returns to the Stellar Regions.

At a dance.—Many male and female earth beings here. Strange and weird sounds made on things that might be cooking utensils. One of the articles roars like thunder just before water falls. When noise begins male earth beings grab a female and they start as if to fight all over the place. It is all play for they do not throw each other down as they pretend to do. They turn around many times and the work is most violent. When the female earth being is about to succumb they stop and she takes a cool maker (fan) to revive and get ready for another attack. They drink much water. Some of the earth beings wrestle with others than their mates. Some who were probably crippled in former fights do not engage in the festivities but sit by with sad looks on their faces. Looked in room reserved for female earth beings at end of building. Saw one lift garment and take out small piece of cloth from enclosure of garment about her limb; probably some superstitious act for she turned pale immediately and took on a serious look. Event continued until old Sol was ready to shine again. Noticed one peculiar thing: when the noise makers would cease, the people who were whirling around would stop and they would make noise with their hands—then the noise makers would get mad and start their racket again.

FATS EXPRESS CREATES HAVOC

First Section of St. Louis Express Had Been Held Up by an Accident Near Johnstown, and Second Section, Going Fifty Miles an Hour, Crashed Into It, Ploughing Its Way Through
—Many Killed and Injured When Giant Double-Header Struck the Disabled First Section.

Johnstown, Pa., Jan. 23.—Running at a speed of nearly fifty miles an hour, the second section of the St.
Louis express on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into the first section, which had met with an accident at a point between South Fork and Summer Hill, known as "Running Ground," with terrific force early this morning, killing and injuring many persons. The second section was a double header,
with two large engines, and ploughed its way through the first section. Immediately after the wreck hurry calls were issued for all available physicians at both this place and at Altoona, and in less than an hour nearly fifty physicians were on their way to the scene of the accident.

Only Five Were Killed.

Only five persons were killed in the wreck, but many were injured. Section No. 1 was made up of one express car, one combination car, one coach, two sleepers and a parlor car. The entire section was wrecked. The two engines and two express cars of the second section were also wrecked. The dead and injured were removed to Altoona.

BAR TO FULL ACTIVITY

Manufacturers Uncertain as to Possible Tariff Changes.

New York, Jan. 23.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says:
Trade is expanding slowly but steadily,
wholesale and jobbing lines noting some good orders for immediate delivery and rather more of confidence in placing orders for spring. Conservatism is, however, noted in many sections, and some markets report a feeling of disappointment at the rate of progress making. In the leading industries the tendency is still toward gradual resumption, but in few cases is the output up to a good normal. Uncertainty as to tariff changes is still widely mentioned as a bar to fullest activities, this being notable especially in iron and steel, where present demand is below expectations, and in some lines of textiles. Reports from the railways are of an increased merchandise traffic northwest and southwest, but this is to a certain extent offset by restricted movement of grain
to market.

INDIANA POLITICS

By Robert G. Tucker.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—Two bills have been introduced in the senate to abolish the uniform text-book system for the public schools of Indiana. A similar measure was introduced in the house. The indications are that a stronger fight than ever before is to be made on the uniform text-book plan
by which the state board of education makes five- and ten-year contracts for books. The senate bills were offered by Senators Cox and Kane, Republicans. The former said that under the present plan it is impossible for school children to take advantage of the best text-books. In cities children are required to buy supplementary books
without price regulations being fixed by law. He asserted that he has no sympathy for the claims that local boards are not competent to select their own text-books.

The state board of education, with Governor Marshall, met the senate and the house committees on education.
This is the first time the board and the assembly committees have decided that it would be possible to co-operate.
The state board announced that it would be against any legislation repealing present school laws, particularly with reference to the qualifications for teachers. There are at present two bills before the house to change the qualifications for teaching.
The board explained that the laws now on the statute books were the result of the experience of the board and should not be changed except to weed out error. The board also declared itself for certified and commissioned high school inspection under the direction of the board. This work should be done by an inspector who is strong enough to lecture and aid the principals in rearranging courses to meet the standard. This is now deemed important, because of the fact that graduation from certified and commissioned high schools is part of the qualification required of school teachers.

Robert J. Ale, the newly elected superintendent of public instruction, was present, and in a short talk declared himself in favor of the law introduced by Representative Coahran to increase the qualifications for county superintendents and place them upon a graduated salary basis, the salary to depend upon the school enumeration of the county. This is the law which the County Superintendents' association and the State Teachers' association has endorsed. Prof. Ale also declared himself in favor of text books to be as nearly uniform in the high schools as possible. Such a bill has been introduced in the house by Representative Garrard.

The senate committee on the affairs of the city of Indianapolis has decided to report favorably on the Cox bill for a governor's mansion, with certain amendments which are yet to be agreed upon. While the committee agreed that a governor's mansion
should be recommended to the legislature, there are several points at issue.
One undecided question is as to the amount to be appropriated. The bill, as offered by Senator Cox, who is chairman of the committee having the bill in charge, provided for an appropriation of $150,000. Various sums were suggested at the meeting, one of them being as low as $35,000, and it was finally suggested it would be better for the members of the committee to think the matter over until Monday.

Senator Bowser presented an odd petition signed by 185 veterans and soldiers' widows in Porter county, asking that a law be passed by the legislature granting them additional pensions. They said that Abraham Lincoln had promised that veterans and widows of veterans should always be

Subpoenas Set Aside.

New York, Jan. 23.—The subpoenas calling for the appearance before the federal grand jury of J. Angus Shaw, secretary of the Press Publishing company, publishers of the World, and of William P. McLoughlin, sporting editor of the World, "to testify all and everything which you may know generally on the part of the United States," were set aside and quashed
by a decision handed down by Judge Ward in the United States circuit court. The opinion which invalidates the subpoenas in question affirms the principle enunciated in the fifth amendment to the constitution, which provides that no one shall be compelled in a criminal case to be a witness against himself.

Unable to Cope With Flames.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 23.—Fire which threatened to wipe out a large section of the town broke out shortly after 1:30 this morning in the Termiment was unable to cope with the blaze and sent to Trenton for assistance.

Thousands Will Be Affected.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 23.—The climax to a number of small strikes in clothing manufacturing houses of this city came when the Clothing Board of trade, the association of employers, resolved upon a lockout that will affect
a number of people, variously estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000. The trouble has been brewing for some time,
and in its most recent phase is said to have resulted from the women in certain shops having been given the advantage of quitting fifteen minutes
earlier than the men daily.

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 23.—Originating with the explosion of the lantern of a watchman on Pier 12, the most extensive wharf fire in the history of night, practically burning itself out shortly before midnight after destroying the entire wharf and wharf sheds, entailing a loss estimated at $425,000.

Lack of Action Thus Far in Session
of Indiana General Assembly—Fail-

Shows Teeth to Minority.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—The house and senate were not in session today,
having adjourned until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Representative Smith of Portland opposed the motion to adjourn, saying he believed there should be a session on Saturday.

Representative Sweeney said: "I have never seen such slow work. I am for the motion to adjourn until 2 o'clock Monday, and in the meantime let the members be ready to report
the bills out of committee."

Speaker Honan said the members of the house appeared to be of the opinion that all they had to do was to introduce bills. "Your real work," said
he, "is done in committee meetings.
The only reason the house has not done anything is because the committees have failed to get together."

First Clash of the Session.

After indulging in their first clash
of the session the house Democrats Friday showed the Republicans they can defeat them at any time, and then turned about and yielded to the demands of the minority for a postponement of consideration of Representative Strickland's bill providing a severe code for foreigners who wish to vote. The bill was drawn at the suggestion of Governor Marshall. It embodies a long list of questions a foreigner shall answer if he is challenged at the voting place. The alleged election frauds by which the Democrats claim they lost thousands of votes in Lake, St. Joseph and other large counties, furnished inspiration for the measure. The Republican leaders say they are in favor of making a new law regulating the voting of foreigners and to prevent election frauds, but they pointed out that the Strickland bill would disfranchise many legal voters.
One of its provisions is that a foreigner must tell when he landed in this country and on what boat he sailed.
The Republicans insisted that many foreigners do not vote for several years after their arrival in America and that a very small per cent of them can tell the name of the boat on which they came over. Representative Strickland opposed any amendments. He said the Democrats propose to stop the wholesale voting of "Hunkies" and that the bill will do it. The amendments offered by the Republicans were voted down, but the Democrats finally consented to make the bill a special order of business for Monday afternoon.

For a State Exposition.

Senator Kistler, Democrat, Logansport, will introduce Monday a joint resolution paving the way for a state or national exposition here in 1916 to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the statehood of Indiana. Representative Furnas will introduce a bill to authorize a $160,000 bond issue to enable the state board of agriculture to build an immense machinery hall at the state fair grounds.

No further efforts will be made by the defeated candidates on the Democratic state ticket to oust the Republicans from state office. No statement to that effect has been authorized,
but Chairman Jackson admitted that a contest would be futile, as the Republicans will control half of the members of the legislative committee who will hear the evidence.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED

Misuse of Town Funds Alleged Against Prominent Citizens.

Mitchell, Ind., Jan. 23.—Much comment was created here when it became known that Noble L. Moore, cashier of the Bank of Mitchell and former town councilman; Harry Chappel, a merchant and former town councilman,
and James W. Edwards, postmaster, had been arrested on grand jury indictments for complicity in taking funds belonging to the town of Mitchell. These arrests arose from the investigation of the shortage of Ed. C.
Tirey, former town clerk and treasurer, who is under arrest for a shortage of $6,000 or $7,000.

Strange Case of Dilley.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—Eugene Dilley of Trafalgar, for whom an extensive search had been made for several months, has been working here as a common laborer under his proper name for the past two months. The discovery of the long missing man was followed by a reunion with his family, and it is thought his memory will shortly return. Dilley disappeared from his home last July, after he had been injured by a brick falling on his head. Since that time he had apparently wandered all over the country,
his mind a blank so far as the past is concerned.

SUBSTANTIAL SUPPORT

Mine Workers Lend Force of Encouragement to Gompers.

Washington, Jan. 23.—"Stay in the game," flashed the United Mine Workers of America in a message from Indianapolis to President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. The message referred to the fight of the Federation of Labor officials in the contempt case in which an appeal is now pending before the District of Columbia court of appeals, from the sentences imposed on Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison by Justice
Wright of the district supreme court.
The telegram read:

"Thirteen hundred and fifty delegates attending the thirtieth annual convention extend fraternal greetings, appropriated $2,500 for present needs, and instructed the executive board to furnish more when needed.

"Stay in the game. Three hundred thousand black diamond artists are with you in this fight to a finish to determine our legal rights."

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE STOPPED THE RACING

New Orleans Track Gamblers Knew When to Quit.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 23.—After continuing for a week, the race meet which started Jan. 16 at Suburban park in Jefferson parish, across the river from New Orleans, has closed down, at least temporarily. The announcement of the suspension was made at the conclusion of the fourth race yesterday afternoon, and shortly after Jack Sheehan of Memphis, a well-known book-maker, had been arrested on the charge of violating the so-called Locke anti-racing law. Sheehan's arrest formed a sequel to an order which Governor Sanders wired the district attorney of Jefferson parish, from Baton Rouge. "Unless the betting on horse race at McDonoghville, as well as the gambling at Southport, are stopped immediately," said the governor, "I shall take a hand myself."

The governor's order was sent by him at the conclusion of a conference with the adjutant general of the state, and the turmen, the Jefferson parish authorities and the public as well, surmised that if the governor's order was disobeyed, troops would be sent both to the Suburban track at McDonoghville, as well as to Southport.

TELEPHONE MEN MEET

Independents Get Together in Boston
Today to Talk Things Over.

Boston, Jan. 23.—An important meeting of the independent telephone men is that of the conference committee of the independent telephone companies, scheduled for today. This committee is made up of officials of the independent companies of the country, representing directly and indirectly an invested capital of more than $400,000, 000.

The conference committee's membership represents the country as far west
as Nebraska, as far south as the gulf
and as far north as Minnesota.

The independent telephone organizations comprise 12,000 separate companies, large and small, with about 500,000 security holders. The companies are said to give service through 20,000 exchanges.

Attorneys Given a Rest.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 23.—The third day of the Cooper-Sharpe murder trial passed not only without securing another juror, but if the motion of the state be sustained, one of the six already chosen will be eliminated because he was intoxicated when he reported for service and was chosen.
Court is not in session today. Judge Hart announcing that he believes the case can be completed more rapidly
by giving the attorneys one day in six in which to consult.

An Outbreak Was Feared.

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 23.—An outbreak was feared when the trial of Henry Carter, Robert Osborne and Sidney Pierce for the murder of Talbot Howard, whose body was found in Catron river, began here. The men were formerly members of the Turner side of the Howard-Turner feud, while the murdered man was a member of the Howard faction. It is thought that the trouble and murder of Howard was the result of the feud trouble, and feeling ran high.

Clemency for Billik.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—Governor Charles S. Deneen has commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death which had been pronounced on Herman Billik of Chicago, who was condemned to hang for the murder of Mary Vrzal, whom he poisoned, with other members of the family, it was charged.

Alabama Negro Lynched.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 23.—A mob of small number early this morning took Douglas Robertson, the negro who on Thursday killed Deputy Sheriff Fatch
in a pistol fight here, from the county jail and hanged him to a tree on a residence street just outside of the business section of the city.

Jury Found Them Guilty.
Columbus, O., Jan. 23.—Jacob and Abraham Kapner, father and son, well known as hosiery manufacturers, and J. S. Prettyman, vice president of the First National bank at Dresden, which failed in October, 1907, were found guilty by a jury in the United States court on eleven counts for misapplication of the bank's funds and three counts for conspiracy to wreck the bank.

Juror Accepted Bribe.

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 23.—William Blakeman, jr., will spend two to fourteen years in the state's prison for accepting a bribe while serving as a juror here. Blakeman, who formerly was a member of the police force, was convicted in the circuit court.

PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor Republican:

Those who would argue against county option from the dollar and cent standpoint, seem to be unable to see but from one standpoint. They seem to forget, too, that county option merely gives the people a chance to express themselves. The law does do more than this.

There are some exceptions, but as far as can be learned, in this county it seems to be the men who pay the bulk of the taxes are most eager to sign the election petitions and vote for a "dry" county.

It has always been the contention of the liquor people that the saloon is a benefit to a community as a revenue producer. Carefully prepared statistics go to show that they actually cost more in dollars than they pay for public purposes, to say nothing of the wrecked manhood and the suffering of innocent persons directly traceable to the use of liquor. The people have been studying these statistics and doing a lot of thinking, and they seem to be ready to cheerfully assume the cost, be it great or small.

The statement that large numbers of empty rooms will result from excluding the saloons seems not borne out by reports from towns where liquor has long been excluded.

COUNTY OPTIONIST.

Editor Republican:

In the Greensburg News this week I see an article signed "A Republican" that matches my sentiments to a T. He first gives what Hon. James E. Watson said a day or two after the election, which is:

"I am entirely satisfied with my campaign. I made more speeches than any other man that ever ran for Governor in this State, and my defeat is not due to any lack of effort on my part. I attribute my defeat wholly to the question of local option. The liquor Republicans were more in favor of liquor than they were in favor of their party. The temperance Democrats, on the other hand, were Democrats before they were temperance people. The great majority of Prohibitionists care nothing about temperance, their only object being to defeat the Republican party, and they voted their ticket. Some temperance Democrats voted for me, and those Prohibitionists who really care anything about temperance voted in the same way. The majority of the people, however, have said at the ballot boxes that they were not in favor of county local option, and on the question I was beaten."

Are you going to vote for the very thing that defeated Watson in the last election?

Do you, as a good Republican, intend to vote next Tuesday with the crowd that knifed James E. Watson?

Are you going to stand by Frank Hanly and the gang that forced the special session of the Legislature on the people and caused the loss of the Governorship to the Republicans?

Answer these questions for yourself next Tuesday after you have thought the matter over carefully.

A RICHLAND REPUBLICAN.

P. S.—They are going to have an election in Decatur county next Tuesday.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Yelled several school boys, as the horse hitched to the Rushville Steam Laundry wagon came down the Main street hill late yesterday evening at a rapid gait. Of course, the boys were only joking for they knew that Clifford Jarvis was in the wagon, but Lon Stewart, who was on the other side of the street, did not see the joke. Thinking that the horse would probably injure someone or that it might do some damage, he rushed madly into the street and seizing the bride soon brought the animal to a standstill.

"Please let loose of that horse. I am in a hurry," was heard from the inside of the wagon and Lon stepped back and permitted the wagon to pass, very much abashed on account of his hasty and unnecessary action. But he is "Nearly a Hero."

Three or four fellows were standing in a saloon on the south side of the court house square yesterday, when a strange thing happened. Hearing a commotion the drinkers looked up and saw a full grown mule standing in the threshold. One of the fellows thinking he was getting the "snakes" and seeing things, actually dropped a glass of whisky that he was raising to his lips. The others hurried to the door to "shoo" the mule away.

"What in the world?" thundered one fellow.

"Why that's a Democrat whom someone is after to sign the county option petition," said another.

"Yes, and you can bet they will make a silly ass of him," said another.

It proved to be one of Larry Harris' mules, a "drove" of them being stampeded yesterday as they were enroute to the depot for shipment, when Larry put a blanket over the white horse leader as it started to rain. The mules ran in every direction and it required over an hour to round them up.

"How is your friend Judge Hall getting along?" he was then asked.

"He is presiding over the Senate with much grace, ability and dignity," he replied.

"Where in the world did you get on to all that talk?"

"Oh, I heard papa say it to a fellow," he returned.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

WHY EGGS ARE HIGH.

(Greensburg Review.)

Mary E., the handsomest hen in Indiana, will be a distinguished guest at Decatur county's big poultry show beginning next Tuesday. She is the property of U. R. Fishel, the famous chicken fancier of Hope, and is valued at one thousand dollars. Mary E. is the white Plymouth Rock, and is as stylish as any hen that ever showed herself in this country. Nashville, Tenn., was very anxious to get her for the big show that will be on there next week, but Mr. Fishel, who has many friends here, gave the preference to Greensburg, and this is how our people will have a chance to see her. Don't miss the opportunity.

No Harm to Flirt a Bit in Church

While flirting in theaters and other places of amusement should be tabooed, according to Rev. S. B. Dexter of Aurora, he has announced that it may properly take place in church, where, he declares, "it is purged of its harmfulness." His decision grows out of a crusade against Sunday night amusements. "Church surroundings and associations," he says, "are entirely different from those which attend performances in public playhouses. Sometimes the plays in our theaters are a trifle risqué, and if the show be given on Sunday, the result is a general forgetfulness of that fact. Under such conditions, flirting is harmful. In church, however, I can see no harm in a 'little bit' of flirting, if the young people come, not to look at each other, but to learn the Scriptures."

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a hollow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

CHAPTER III.

HOW TO PLEASE A SENATOR.

THE International hotel in Washington was all bustle and bustle. Was it not preparing for its first senator since 1885? No less a personage than the Hon. William H. Langdon of Mississippi, said to be a warm personal friend of Senator Stevens, one of the leading members of his party at the capital, had engaged a suit of rooms for himself and two daughters.

"Ain't it the limit?" remarked the chief clerk to Bud Haines, correspondent of the New York Star. "The senator wrote us that he was coming here because his old friend, the late Senator Moseley, said back in '75 that this was the best hotel in Washington and where all the prominent men ought to stay."

Haines, the ablest political reporter in Washington, had come to the International to interview the new senator, to describe for his paper what kind of a citizen Langdon was. He glanced around at the dingy woodwork, the worn cushions, the nicked and uneven tiles of the hotel lobby, and smiled at the clerk. "Well, if this is the new senator's idea of princely luxury he will fit right into the senatorial atmosphere." Both laughed derisively. "By the way," added Haines, "I suppose you'll raise your rates now that you've got a senator here."

The clerk brought his fist down on the register with a thud.

"We could have them every day if we wanted them. This fellow, though, we'll have all winter, I guess. His son's here now. Been breaking all records for drinking. Congressman Norton of Mississippi has been down here with him a few times. There young Langdon is now." Haines turned quickly, just in time to bump into a tall, slender young man, who was walking unevenly in the direction of the cafe.

"Well, can't you see what you're doing?" muttered the tall young man thickly.

Haines smiled. The chap who has played halfback four years on his college eleven and held the boxing championship in his class is apt to be good natured. He does not have to take offense easily. Besides, Randolph Langdon was plainly under the influence of whisky. So Haines smiled pleasantly at the taller young man.

"Beg your pardon—my fault," Haines said.

"Well, don't let it occur again," mumbled Langdon as he strolled with uneven dignity toward the door. Bud Haines laughed.

"I guess young Langdon is going to be one of the boys, isn't he?"

"He's already one of them when it comes to a question of fluid capacity," laughed some one behind him, and Bud whirled to meet the gaze of his friend,

Dick Cullen, representative of one of the big Chicago dailies.

"You down here to see Langdon, too?" commented Bud.

Cullen nodded. "Queer roost where this senator is to hang out, isn't it?"

"It can't be a rich one, then," suggested Haines.

Cullen chuckled.

"Perhaps he's an honest one."

"I hadn't thought of that. You always were original, Dickie," commented Haines dryly. "By the way, what do you know about him?"

"Nothing, except that the Evening Call printed a picture of his eldest daughter—says she's the queen daughter of the south, a famous beauty, rich planter for a father, mother left her a fortune."

"She'll cut quite a social caper with this hotel's name on her cards, won't she?" broke in Haines as he led Cullen to a seat to await the expected legislator, whose train was late.

"I don't know very much about him myself," said Haines. "All I've been able to discover is that Stevens said the word which elected him, and that looks bad. Great glory, when I think what a senator of the right sort has a chance to do here in Washington—a nonpartisan, straight out from the shoulder man!" He paused to shake his head in disgust. "You know these fellows here in the senate don't even see their chance. Why, if you and I didn't do any more to hold our jobs than they do we'd be fired by wire the first day. They know just the old political game, that's all."

"It's a great game, though, Bud," sighed Cullen longingly, for, like many newspaper men, he had the secret feeling that he was cut out to be a great politician.

"Sure, it's a great game, as a game," agreed Haines. "So is bridge, and stud poker, and three card monte, and flim-flam generally. Take this new man Langdon, for instance. Chosen by Stevens he'll probably be perfectly obedient, perfectly easy going, perfectly blind and—perfectly useless. What's wanted now is to get the work done, not play the game."

Thoroughly a cynic through his years of experience as a newspaper man, which had shown the inside workings of many important phases of the seemingly conventional life of this complex world, Cullen pretended unbounded enthusiasm.

"Hear! Hear!" he shouted. "All you earnest citizens come vote for Reformer Haines. I'm for you, Bud. What do I get in your cabinet? I've joined the reformers, too, and, like all of them, me for P-U-R-I-T-Y as long as she gives me a meal ticket."

But not even Cullen could make Haines consider his views on the necessity of political regeneration to be ridiculous. His optimism could not be snuffed out, for he was a genuine believer that the natural tendency of humankind was to do right. Wrong he believed to be the outcome of unnatural causes. This quality, combined with his practical knowledge of the world and his courage, made him a formidable man, one who would one day accomplish big things—if he got the chance.

"You know you can't shut me up, Dick," was his response to Cullen's oratorical flight. "I'm going to have my say. I don't see why a senator shouldn't be honest. All I want them to do is to play a new game. Let 'em at least seem to be honest, attend to their business, forget politics. The country sends them here to work, and if they do the work the people really don't care a hang what party they belong to."

"Come out of it, Bud. Your brain is wabbling," yawned Cullen wearily. "I'll buy a drink if you'll quiet down. Let's be comfortable till this fellow Langdon appears." He caught his friend by the arm and in spite of protest dragged him off to the cafe just as young Langdon and Congressman Norton came down through the lobby.

Though but few years older than Randolph Langdon, Charles Norton had long exercised strong influence over him because of his wider experience in the world's affairs. Like his father, young Langdon had stayed close to the plantation most of his life, particularly after leaving school, devoting his attention to studying the business of conducting the family's big estate. Norton brought him the atmosphere of the big outside world he yearned to see even as did his sister Carolina, and he imitated Norton's manners, his dress and mode of speech. The congressman's habit of confiding in Randolph, a subtle compliment, was deeply appreciated by the lad, who unconsciously became a continual advertiser of Norton's many virtues to Carolina and to his father, all of which the congressman knew.

That Norton's political career was the outcome of Carolina Langdon's ambition to shine in gay society was known to his friends as well as his family, and his desire to win her and place her where she could satisfy every whim had developed almost to a frenzy. Seeing evidences of Senator Stevens' vast influence, he did not hesitate to seek a close relationship with him, and the senator was clever enough to lead Norton to consider him his friend.

At the start of his political career Norton had higher ideas of honor than guided his actions now that he had become a part of the political machine that controlled his native state of Mississippi and of the bipartisan combination that dominated both houses of congress in the interest of the great railway and industrial corporations. Senator Stevens and other powers had so distorted Norton's view of the difference between public and private interests and their respective rights that he had come to believe capital to be the sacred heritage of the nation which must be protected at any cost. The acceptance of a retainer from the C. St. and P. Railroad company for wholly unnecessary services in Washington—only another way of buying a man—a transaction arranged by Senator Stevens, was but another stage in the disintegration of the young congressman's character, but it brought him just that much closer to the point where he could claim Carolina Langdon as his own. And opportunity does not knock twice at a man's door—unless he is at the head of the machine.

Norton, the persevering young law student who loved the girl who had been his boyhood playmate, was now Norton who coveted her father's lands, who boasted that he was on the "inside" in Washington, who was on the way to fortune—if the new senator from Mississippi would or could be forced to stand in favor of the Altacoola naval base.

His conversation with Randolph Langdon as Haines and Cullen saw them pass through the hotel lobby illustrated the nature of the Norton of the present and his interest in the Altacoola scheme.

"There's no reason why you shouldn't come in on the ground floor in this proposition, Randolph," he was urging in continuance of the conversation begun over a table in the cafe. "No reason why you shouldn't do it, my boy. Why, are you still a child, or are you really a man? You have now drafts for $50,000, haven't you?"

"Yeah," agreed Langdon, chagrined at Norton's insinuation of youthfulness and anxious to prove that he was really a man of affairs. "I've got the fifty thousand, Charlie, but—but, you see, that's the money for improvements on the plantation. As father has put me in as manager I want to make a showing."

"You can't make it until spring," urged Norton. "The money's got to lie in the bank all winter. Now, why don't you make a hundred thousand with it instead of letting it lie idle? Isn't that simple?"

The younger man's eyes opened wide, and his imagination, stimulated by the special brand of Bourbon whisky Norton had ordered for him, took rapid bounds.

"One hundred thousand! You mean I could make a hundred thousand with my fifty between now and spring?"

"Sure as a nigger likes gin," replied Norton confidently.

"How?" asked Langdon.

The young congressman leaned over confidentially.

"This is under your hat, Randolph. You can keep quiet?"

Langdon nodded eagerly.

"Then put it into Altacoola land."

"The naval base?" gasped Langdon.

Norton nodded.

"Now you've hit it. The government will select Altacoola for a naval base. Then land will jump way up to never and you'll clean up a hundred thousand at the least. Isn't it simple? There are a thousand people with money who would just love to have this chance. And I'm giving it to you because of our friendship. I want to do you a good turn. I've got my money in there."

Young Langdon was visibly impressed.

"You've always treated me right, Charlie; you've been for me, I know. But suppose the government doesn't select Altacoola. Gulf City's in the running."

Norton laughed sarcastically.

"Gulf City is a big bunch of mud flats. Besides, I'll tell you something else. Just between us, remember." He waited for the boy's eager nod before he went on. "The big men are behind Altacoola. Standard Steel wants Altacoola, and what Standard Steel wants from congress you can bet your bottom dollar Standard Steel gets. They know their business at No. 10 Broadway. Now, then, are you satisfied?"

Langdon was more than satisfied. Already he felt himself rich, and honestly rich, too, for Norton had convinced him that there was no reason why he should not use the $50,000 of his father's, when it had to lie in the bank anyhow all winter, and he would have it back in time to use on the plantation in the spring when it was needed. How proud of him his father would be when he showed him a clear profit of $100,000!

"I'll go get the drafts at once, Charlie, and I'm mighty much obliged to you," he said, with gratitude in his voice.

Norton's smile was one of deep satisfaction.

"That's all right, Randolph. You know I want to do anything I can for you."

Langdon was starting for his room when Haines and Cullen turned sharply around the corner of the hotel desk. Again Bud and the young southerner accidentally collided.

"Where are you going? Can't you look out?" blurted Langdon.

Haines grinned.

"Guess it's your fault this time."

"Oh, it is, is it?" irritably replied Randolph, who as the "young marse"

had been accustomed to considerable deference on the plantation. "Well, take that," he angrily cried, aiming a savage swing at Haines.

The reporter's athletic training proved of ready service. Dodging under the clinched fist, he turned dexterously, seized young Langdon's outstretched wrist and bent the arm down over his (Haines') head.

Langdon was helpless.

shoulder as though to throw the young attacker with the wrestler's "flying mare." Langdon was helpless, as Haines had also secured his free hand, but instead of completing the "throw" the reporter walked away with his foe held securely on his back—to put him to bed, a kindly service, in view of Randolph's mental state.

From across the lobby Charles Norton had watched Randolph's discomfiting encounter with Haines with amusement.

"Now that I've got the young fellow to sew up his old man's money in Altacoola land," he chuckled, "reckon Senator William H. Langdon won't see anything wrong with that same noble tract of universe when he comes to vote for the naval base. Senator Stevens will be pleased."

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

INVENTORY OF COUNTRY'S RESOURCES

Commission Tells How They Should Be Conserved.

In forwarding to the president the report of the national conservation commission Gifford Pinchot, chairman of the commission, says the entry of the conservation movement into the field of definite constructive work is accomplished by the authorization of a joint committee on co-operation, to be composed of six members of the state conservation commissions and three members of the national conservation commission, with its chairman and secretary. This committee is to devise ways and means for effective co-operation between all forces working for the conservation of national resources.

Mr. Pinchot takes occasion to recognize the work of the secretary of the commission, Thomas B. Shipp, and the secretaries of the four sections of waters, forests, lands and minerals. Messrs. W. J. McGee, Overton W. Price, George W. Woodruff and J. A. Holmes, respectively, without whose services, together with the government experts, the making of the national inventory would have been impossible. The five secretaries sign the report with him.

The report of the commission is devoted mainly to an inventory of the country's resources in minerals, lands, forests and waters, closing with a section on "national efficiency."

The mineral production of the United States for 1907 exceeded $2,000,000,000 and contributed 65 per cent of the total freight traffic of the country. The waste in the extraction and treatment of mineral products during the same year was equivalent to more than $300,000,000. The available and easily accessible supplies of coal in the United States aggregate approximately 1,400,000,000 tons. At the present increasing rate of production this supply will be so depleted as to approach exhaustion before the middle of the next century. The high grade iron ores (the only iron ores available for use under existing conditions) cannot be expected to last beyond the middle of the present century. The same is true of the petroleum supply. The supply of stone, clay, cement, lime, sand and salt is ample, while the stock of the precious metals and of copper, lead, zinc, sulphur, asphalt, graphite, quicksilver, mica and the rare metals cannot well be estimated, but is clearly exhaustible within one to three centuries unless unexpected deposits are found.

The consumption of nearly all our mineral products is increasing far more rapidly than our population. A stray gleam of light in the otherwise gloomy mineral situation is seen in the fact that while the production of coal is increasing enormously, the waste and loss in mining are diminishing. There is urgent need of greater safety to the miner. The loss of life through mine accidents is appalling. Stress is laid on the assertion that four-fifths of the country's fire losses, or an average of $1,000,000 a day, could be prevented if the precautions taken in Europe were adopted here.

Speaking of the nation's cultivable area, the report declares that there has been a slight increase in the average yield of our great staple farm products, but neither the increase in acreage nor the yield per acre has kept pace with our increase in population. Within a century we shall probably have to feed three times as many people as now, and the main bulk of our food supply must be grown on our own soil. We have now nearly 6,000,000 farms, averaging 146 acres each, but only a little more than two-fifths of the area of continental United States is under cultivation. The United States can grow the farm products needed by a population more than three times as great as our country now contains, but we must greatly increase the yield per acre.

The greatest unnecessary waste of our soil is preventable erosion. Second only to this is the waste, nonuse and misuse of fertilizer derived from animals and men. Other great causes of loss are due to injurious mammals, plant diseases and insects. Most of these farm losses are preventable.

The present public land laws as a whole do not subserve the best interests of the people. Title to the surface of the remaining nonmineral public lands should be granted only to actual homesteaders.

Next to our need of food and water comes our need of timber, declares the report. The preservation by use under the methods of practical forestry of all public forest lands either in state or federal ownership is essential to the permanent public welfare. Effective and immediate co-operation by private enterprise, state ownership and federal ownership is needed if the public interest is to be subserved. By reasonable thrift we can produce a constant timber supply beyond our present need and with it conserve the usefulness of our streams for irrigation, water supply, navigation and power.

Of the 70,000,000,000 cubic feet of water annually flowing into the sea less than 1 per cent is restrained and utilized for municipality and community supply; less than 2 per cent (or some 10 per cent of that in the arid and semiarid regions) is used for irrigation; perhaps 5 per cent is used for navigation and less than 5 per cent for power.

The freshets are attended by destructive soil erosion. The soil matter annually carried into lower rivers and harbors or into the sea is computed at 750,000,000 tons. Soil wash reduces by 10 to 20 per cent the productivity of upland farms and increases channel cutting and bar building in the rivers. The annual loss to the farms alone is $500,000,000, and large losses follow the fouling of the waters and the diminished navigation of the streams.

Broad plans should be adopted providing for a system of waterway improvement extending to all uses of the waters and benefits to be derived from their control.

Under the heading "National Efficiency" the report says:

"Since the greatest of our national assets is the health and vigor of the American people, our efficiency must depend on national vitality even more than on the resources of the minerals, lands, forests and waters.

"Our annual mortality from tuberculosis is about 150,000. Stopping three-fourths of the loss of life from this cause and from typhoid and other prevalent and preventable diseases would increase our average length of life over fifteen years.

"If we count the value of each life lost at only $1,700 and reckon the average earning lost by illness as $700 per year for grown men, we find that the economic gain from mitigation of preventable disease in the United States would exceed $1,500,000,000 a year. In addition, we would decrease suffering and increase happiness and contentment among the people."

THE PRESIDENT MAKES ANSWER

Statement of Expenditures From War Deficiency Fund.

SOME OF THE NAMES WITHHELD

For Probable "Reasons of State" All the Parties Who Received Payment From the Fund to Which Attention Had Been Called by Senator Foraker Were Not Included in President's Response to Senate Resolution—It Is Pointed Out, However, That There Is Excellent Precedent for Such a Course.

Washington, Jan. 23.—President Roosevelt sent to the senate a response to Senator Foraker's resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury for an itemized statement of expenditures from the $3,000,000 war deficiency fund. The reply reached the senate in the form of an executive document. It purports to be a complete answer so far as the use of the war deficiency fund is concerned, but some of the names of persons to whom payments were made were withheld.

In a message which was read in secret session the president says that if these names are desired he will furnish them to the committee on military affairs. While the Foraker resolution was agreed to in executive session and the reply thereto would ordinarily be sent to the senate in open session, no senator seemed inclined to take the responsibility of criticizing President Roosevelt's course in keeping the information secret. Inasmuch as Mr. Foraker is a member of the committee on military affairs, he has the opportunity of obtaining a statement in detail. He was not present when the reply of the president to his resolution was received.

The president's letter and an itemized statement of expenditures from the war deficiency fund was given into the hands of Secretary Bennett, who will retain it until it is called for by the committee on military affairs. It was not examined by any member of the senate, and therefore it is not known whether it contains any matter other than expenditures for the procurement of military information of a necessarily secret character and the funds expended for the entertainment of foreign observers at American military maneuvers. From the reading of the president's message the impression prevailed that all of the payments from this fund were for that character of work.

Senator Foraker introduced his resolution following the announcement that the investigation of the Brownsville affair by private detectives had been paid for from this fund. The Ohio senator took the position that such an expenditure was not warranted by the purposes for which the emergency fund was intended. The precedent for President Roosevelt's action in withholding certain names of persons to whom payments have been made is found in a response to a senate resolution calling upon the late President McKinley for the accounts of the treaty of Paris commission. Mr. McKinley sent to the senate a statement of all payments made, but kept back the names of a number of persons and some of the details connected with the expenditures. The senate realized that such information should not be made public and did not press demands for a strictly itemized statement.

RECEIVED SCANT ATTENTION President's Conservation Message Read to Empty Benches. Washington, Jan. 23.—The president's message on the conservation of national resources was read before both houses of congress last evening at the close of the proceedings in each body, and there was but a small attendance of senators and representatives.

Exactly as reported by committee the naval program for the fiscal year 1910 was adopted by the house of representatives and the naval appropriation bill was passed. The opponents of the navy increase feature of the bill found themselves in a hopeless minority. The aggregate amount appropriated by the bill is $135,000,000. Feb. 12 next was declared to be a special legal holiday and a survey and plans for a highway from Washington to Gettysburg to be known as "the Lincoln way" as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln was provided for by a joint resolution passed by the senate. Final action was also taken on the legislative, executive and judicial bill, the senate refusing by a vote of 41 to 27 to fix at $75,000 the salary of the president previously increased by an amendment to $100,000.

Wanted in Kentucky. Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 23.—Walter H. Lawrence, aged nineteen, sentenced to a year's confinement for robbing an Oregon postoffice, was arrested when released here and was started for Covington, Ky., to be tried on a charge of shooting, beating and robbing Drugist Wagner in a hold-up two years ago.
